We've redesigned our official CPA training course especially for online delivery, with an all-new structure and more flexible, per-person pricing.

Software2's popular CPA (Certified Packaging Associate) course is now available for remote delivery, and has been rebuilt from the ground-up to give attendees the same awesome training experience as the in-person sessions that our customers love.

Our expert CPA training. Now delivered remotely.

Until we can get back onto campuses to deliver in-person training, we've restructured our training courses to be more agile and convenient, and to accomodate the remote delivery format.

The course will be delivered through industry-standard online platforms, complete with engagement tools and chat sections. Most importantly, they'll be just as interactive as when delivered in person! For attendees to get the most out of our training team, we're operating a maximum of 8 people per session. That's to make sure you get the same collaborative experience as the courses' in-person counterparts.

What's the CPA course all about? Software2's CPA course is for those who've already got some experience using AppsAnywhere's virtualization tools. The course will build on your existing knowledge by introducing some more advanced features. Drawing on real-world examples, you'll learn how to overcome common obstacles to virtualization, and configure even the most complex of apps to deliver the best possible end-user experience!

All-new course structure

To make delivery of the courses more agile, convenient and comfortable for attendees, the Software2 CPA course consists of 8 half days (rather than 5 full days of in-person courses). They'll take place from 9am to 1pm, for ET, GMT and CET time zones.

More flexible pricing

The remote CPA course is priced per-person, to give customers more flexibility for smaller teams. It's priced at $1,150/£875 per-person, which includes all the resources and materials your team needs, as well as covering the certification fees.
